SECTION A: JOB ANALYSIS

1. Job Basics

- Job Title: Retail Floor Operations Trainer
- Department: Human Resource (Retail Training and Development)
- Location: Head office, with regular visits to Khaadi stores in different cities (Inferred based on industry standard practice)
- Employment Status: Full-time, permanent (Inferred based on industry standard practice)
- Reports To: Head of Retail Training and Talent Development (Inferred based on industry standard practice)
- Date Prepared: October 2026

2. About Khaadi

Khaadi is a Pakistani fashion and lifestyle brand started in 1998 by Shamoon Sultan. It has stores in many cities of Pakistan, some stores abroad, and an online store (source: Khaadi official website). Its stores get very busy during lawn launches, Eid, wedding season and sales (Inferred based on industry standard practice). Because of this, the sales staff must be well trained.

3. Purpose of the Job

The main purpose of this job is to train store staff so they give good customer service, follow the grooming standards, use the POS system correctly and understand how the store floor works. This helps every Khaadi store give the same shopping experience to customers (Inferred based on industry standard practice).

4. How the Job Analysis Was Done

I did not interview anyone or observe a store myself. I used secondary sources:

- Khaadi's official website
- Job ads for similar retail trainer roles
- Textbook methods from Dessler (Ch. 4, pp. 99–105), DeCenzo (Ch. 5, pp. 128–132) and Noe (Ch. 4, pp. 161–177)

Following Dessler's steps (pp. 99–101), I first decided what the information would be used for (training design, job description and hiring criteria). Then I studied the work-flow (Noe, pp. 161–164). In this job the work-flow is: new employee joins → induction → training on service, grooming and POS → coaching on the floor → audit. Next I collected the information, and finally I wrote the job description and specification. In a real company, the draft would be checked with the Training Head and Store Managers. A Position Analysis Questionnaire (PAQ) could also be used later to measure the job in more detail (Inferred based on industry standard practice).

5. Main Work Activities (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- Customer service training: Teach staff how to greet customers, understand their needs, suggest products and handle complaints and exchanges.
- Grooming standards: Train staff on uniform, neat appearance and store presentation, and check whether they follow these rules.
- POS usage: Teach billing, discounts, exchanges and cash handling, and check for billing mistakes.
- Floor orientation: Show new staff around the store, brief them on new collections, and give feedback while they work on the floor.

6. Tools and Technology Used (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- POS (Point of Sale) machines for billing
- ERP software like SAP for stock and sales data
- CRM or customer database for customer records
- Learning Management System (LMS) to record who completed training
- MS PowerPoint, Excel and Canva for training material
- MS Teams or WhatsApp groups to communicate with stores
- Call centre/IVR and online store complaint records to find common customer problems
- Mystery shopper and grooming checklists

7. Working Conditions in Pakistan (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

The trainer works partly in a training room and partly on the store floor. The job needs a lot of standing and walking, travel between cities, and work on weekends and evenings during busy seasons like Eid and sales. Training is given in Urdu and English to male and female staff, so the trainer must be respectful and culturally aware.

8. Key Relationships (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

TYPE	WHO
REPORTS TO	Head of Retail Training and Talent Development
WORKS WITH (INTERNAL)	Store Managers, Area Managers, Visual Merchandising team, Regional HR Business Partners, customer care team
TRAINS	Sales associates, cashiers, floor assistants, new hires
EXTERNAL CONTACTS	Outside trainers, uniform suppliers, POS/software vendors

SECTION B: JOB DESCRIPTION

1. Job Summary

The Retail Floor Operations Trainer trains Khaadi's front-line staff in customer service, grooming, POS use and floor operations. The trainer connects the HR department's standards with what actually happens in the stores (Inferred based on industry standard practice).

2. Duties and Responsibilities

The time percentages and the essential/marginal labels are Inferred based on industry standard practice. (Essential and marginal duties are explained in DeCenzo, pp. 132–136, and Dessler, pp. 108–115.)

Duty	Essential / Marginal	% of Time
Conduct induction and floor orientation for new sales staff, covering brand values, store layout and basic procedures	Essential	25%
Train staff to do POS billing, discounts, exchanges and cash handling correctly	Essential	20%
Teach and check grooming, uniform and greeting standards	Essential	20%
Coach staff on the shop floor and give feedback on customer handling and selling	Essential	15%
Prepare and update training guides, modules and tests for new collections	Essential	10%
Keep attendance records, submit training reports and manage training materials	Marginal	10%

3. Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

KPI	HOW IT IS MEASURED
TIME-TO-PRODUCTIVITY OF NEW HIRES	Number of days a new employee takes to handle busy floor traffic alone
TRAINING COMPLETION AND PASS RATE	LMS records and test results (for example, 90% or more passing)
CUSTOMER SERVICE AND GROOMING SCORES	Mystery shopper and store audit results
POS ERROR RATE	Billing mistakes and checkout differences after training

SECTION C: JOB SPECIFICATION (KSAOs)

A job specification lists the qualities a person needs to do the job well. It is written using KSAOs: Knowledge, Skills, Abilities and Other characteristics (Dessler, pp. 115–118; DeCenzo, pp. 136–138).

1. Education and Experience (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- Education: Bachelor's degree in BBA, Human Resource Management or a related field from an HEC-recognized university. An MBA or MS in HR is preferred.
- Experience: 1 to 2 years in retail operations, customer service training or HR training. Experience in fashion or lifestyle retail is an advantage.

2. Knowledge (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- How a retail store works, including stock handling, floor layout and opening/closing routines.
- POS and billing steps, including discounts, exchanges, returns and cash handling.
- Customer service standards and how to handle complaints.
- Basic visual merchandising and Khaadi's grooming and uniform rules.
- Store SOPs (Standard Operating Procedures), basic safety rules and basic labour laws such as working hours and overtime.
- How adults learn, so that training is effective.

3. Skills (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- Technical skills: Using POS systems, MS PowerPoint and Excel, and a Learning Management System (LMS).
- Training skills: Presenting, running workshops, making training modules and designing short tests.
- Communication skills: Clear spoken and written Urdu and English, and good listening.
- Coaching skills: Giving honest but polite feedback to staff on the floor.
- Interpersonal skills: Patience and the ability to work with different types of people.

4. Abilities (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- Mental abilities: Reading audit and sales data to find training needs, solving problems quickly, changing the training style for different trainees, and managing the schedules of many stores.
- Physical abilities: Standing and walking on the store floor for long hours, and travelling regularly to stores in different cities.

5. Other Characteristics (Inferred based on industry standard practice)

- Certifications: A TOT (Training of Trainers) or customer service certification is a plus.

- Personal attributes: Interest in fashion retail, energetic and patient, well-groomed and a good role model for staff, honest and trustworthy, and a good fit with Khaadi's culture.
- Work flexibility: Ready to work on weekends, evenings and busy seasons like Eid and sales.
